

COMMUNITY SUPPORTED AGRICULTURE means subscribing to local farms and farmers to share the bounty and the uncertainty.

Fruitful Hills has fed Kansas Citians for 12 years. We have a good track record for dealing with drought, storms, a devastating house fire, nasty insects, voracious raccoons, and seeds that just didn't take.

If we didn't have enough radishes for all shares, for example, we picked wild berries or supplemented with herbs or honey. We gave good value even when nature didn't cooperate to fill our shares to perfection.

Subscribers don't go without, but unlike a grocery store, they do have to be flexible. In a CSA, everyone shares nature's rewards along with her risks. You are not a consumer or a customer.

You are a partner.

If you would like produce, meat, and dairy on a regular basis in your neighborhood or business, consider coordinating a CSA dropoff. Contact us to see if you are in our delivery area.
